EVIL JOE JACKSON'S DEATHBED CONFESSION!

Nastiest man in showbiz REGRETS PUSHING TROUBLED SON MICHAEL to the brink

FIGHTING desperately for life, Joe Jackson shockingly confessed his late son, Michael, would still be alive today if he hadn't treated him so horrifically!

Jackson, 87, was rushed to Albert Einstein Hospital in Sao Paulo, Brazil, July 26 after suffering a stroke just before a $200,000 party marking his birthday. He then suffered three heart attacks and was placed in intensive care amid reports he'd lost his eyesight.

'I destroyed Michael'

A Jackson family friend tells GLOBE that Joe, believing he was on his deathbed, "said his biggest regret was abusing

Joe Jackson, who's married to matriarch Katherine (above), suffered a stroke and three heart attacks in Brazil (right)

Michael, and that if he had treated him better he might still be here.

"Joe said, 'I destroyed Michael. I made him hate me, then hate himself. It's my fault my boy's not here anymore. I turned him into a basket case.' "

In 1965, 7-year-old Michael was old enough to join his brothers onstage. And soon The Jackson 5 exploded on the music scene, driven by harsh taskmaster Joe, who has been branded ruthless and greedy.

Son Marlon recalled his father held young Michael upside down by one leg, and then "pummeled him over and over...hitting him on his back and buttocks."

The Thriller singer even said the very sight of his violent, serial-cheater dad, who has a love child, would make him throw up.

Says the friend, "Joe stole Michael's childhood, putting him on stage before he was 10, then ground him into dust to make a star out of him.

"For years, Joe's known his time was short. I guess he wanted to unburden his soul – but it's too little too late!"

BOOZER BLAKE NEEDS REHAB!

— PALS FEAR

AS scandalous charges of cheating swirl around his $100 million divorce from Miranda Lambert, country star Blake Shelton is hitting the bottle with such a vengeance his worried pals are urging him to check into rehab.

“He says he’s celebrating his divorce from Miranda,” says a friend. “Sadly, his drinking has escalated. He’s like a time bomb ready to go off, and needs help.”

While Shelton, 39, suddenly filed for – and got – the quickie divorce last month, sources say Lambert was the fed-up partner. She was tired of his boozing and suspicious of his rumored affair with country singer Cady Groves.

But sources say blonde beauty Lambert was a bigger cheater – plunging into affairs with at least five men since hooking up with Shelton.

“In fact, insiders close to the duo claim Blake actually caught his wife in the act of cheating,” says a source.

Adds an insider, “Miranda’s secret double life is the reason Blake ended the marriage. It wasn’t the fairy tale they portrayed.”

Party animal Shelton is rumored to have bedded Groves in 2011 – AFTER he married Lambert.

Groves brazenly refuses to deny the talk of an affair with Shelton. Two days after the couple’s divorce, she tweeted, “I never stopped loving you – you just ran.”

Meanwhile, Shelton has reportedly been hitting the bottle even harder since booting Lambert.

He’s often bragged about his love of guzzling, saying, “I’m a country artist, my job is to lay my heart and soul on the line – and my heart and soul is being a redneck and drinking and being stupid.”

Shelton has cultivated a boozy, Good Time Charlie image. He regularly bragged about his binges on the Twitter

Web site with a series of “I’m so drunk...” messages.

Before a concert in St. Louis, Mo., he tweeted, “I’m here and I’m sober. One of these things need to change pronto!”

Shelton also boasted about sipping “every kind of vodka” from his cup while serving as a judge on TV’s The Voice, adding that he “can’t see how people perform without drinking alcohol,” notes the source.

Now, his boozing has friends worried sick. “He needs to shed his hard-drinking ways before he ends up in an early grave!” says the pal.

ROBIN WILLIAMS left a shocking series of handwritten suicide notes exposing the dark despair that tragically drove him to take his own life, say sources.

On the first anniversary of the beloved comedian's death, GLOBE rips the lid off the heartbreaking messages that reveal his deteriorating state of mind in the months before he hanged himself in a bedroom of his mansion.

But like the comic himself, Williams' suicide notes were unconventional. Investigators say he didn't appear to leave a suicide note at the scene of his hanging, but a top doctor says messages written before he died chillingly foretell his ultimate fate.

"Robin scribbled words on pieces of paper and left them all over the place," says

a source. "On their own, they really didn't make much sense. But when you look at them as a whole in light of the suicide, Robin was clearly reaching the point where he couldn't take the pain and anguish of his life any longer."

According to a source, one note read, "Time to go." Others included the phrases, "I'm done with that" and "No more to come."

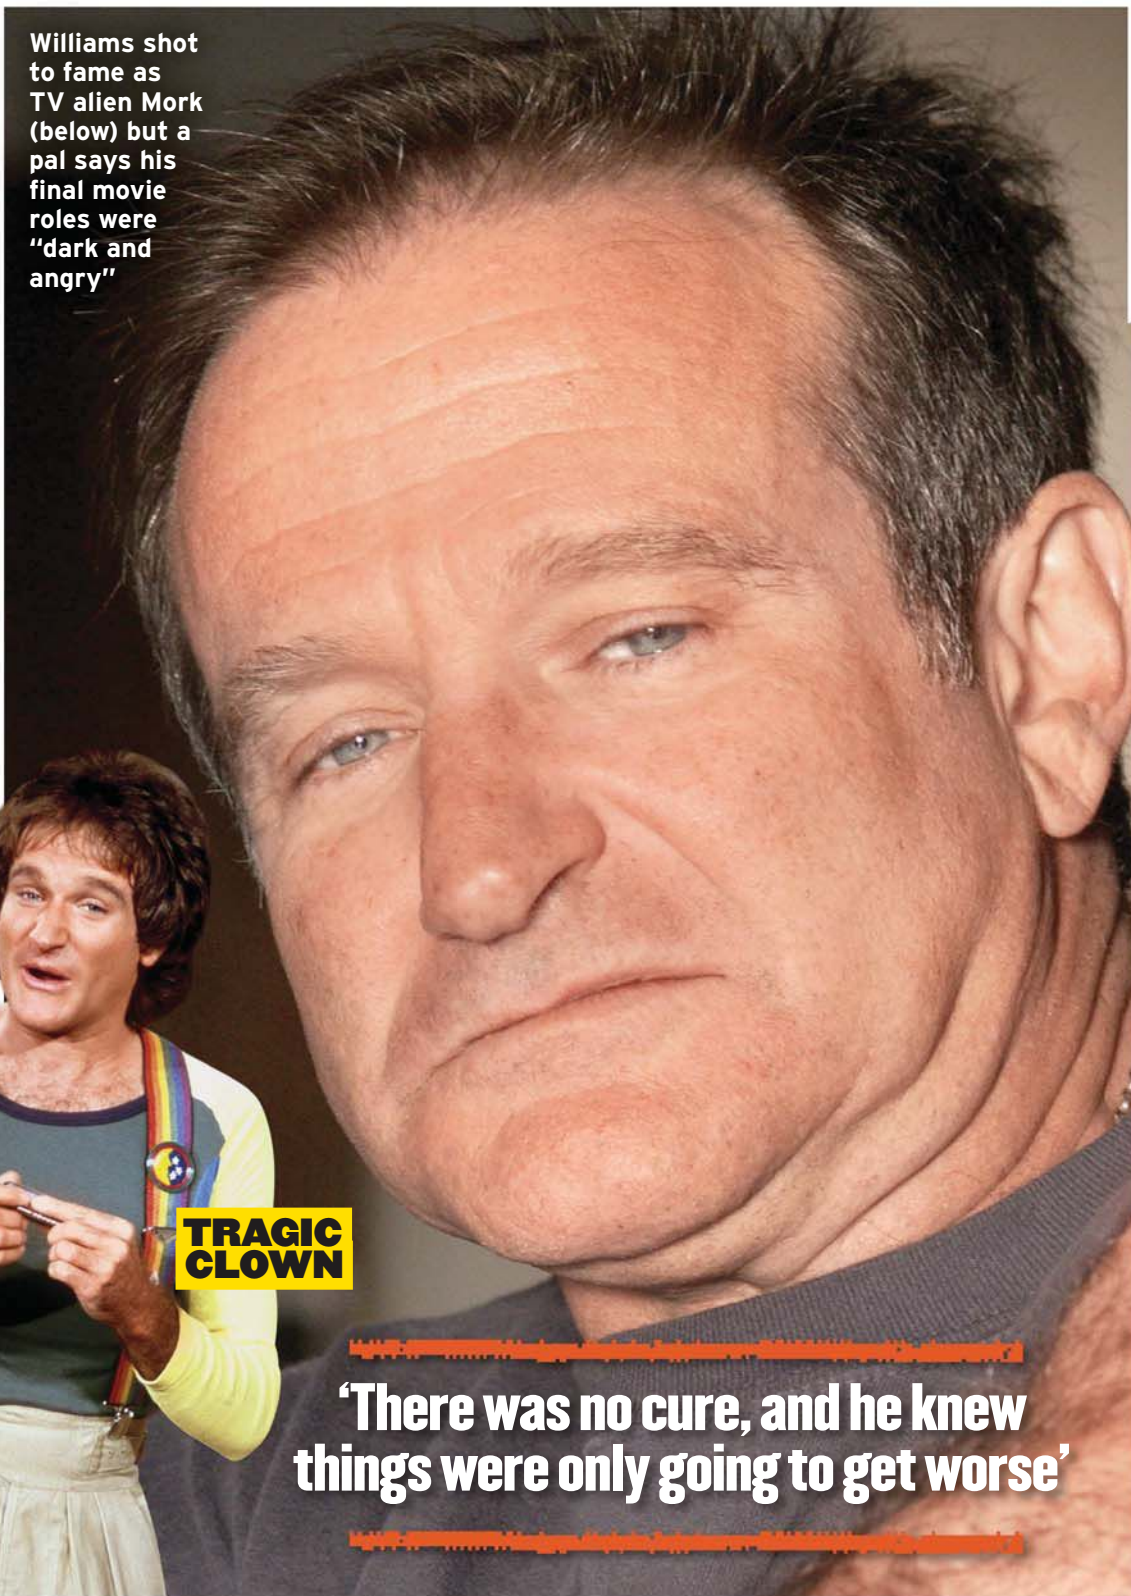

Behavioral expert Dr. Lilian Glass tells GLOBE, "These comments reflect how terribly depressed Robin Williams was. He could not share these thoughts with another person, just himself."

She says the lack of a formal suicide note leads her to believe Williams took his life spontaneously, without much planning.

"The 'time to go' message is very chilling," notes

DEATH HOUSE

Robin and third wife Susan lived in this $4 million mansion in Tiburon, Calif., which was the scene of his tragic death

Glass. "It was likely a visual reminder to himself that he was going to commit suicide at some point. 'I'm done with that' could be his way of saying goodbye, and 'no more to come' means he was prepared for the finality of his life."

A longtime friend adds Williams often wrote little notes to himself as a kind of therapy. But they couldn't stop his downward spiral as he suffered health problems and continued his relentless tug-of-war with substance abuse.

'Dark and angry'

"Robin was a tortured soul," reveals the friend. "He tried to keep his anguish from his loved ones and focused on his work to keep his demons at bay. But the roles he took were dark and angry."

In his final movie, Boulevard, released last month, Williams plays a married 60-year-old banker who realizes he is gay and has been living a lie.

"Robin's role in Boulevard affected him deeply," says the friend. "It made him question everything about his own life. He was left wondering if he was repressing some deep urges like his character."

"Making the movie had a devastating effect. When filming ended, he seemed to go into a dark tunnel and was tormented."

Meanwhile, Williams was secretly suffering from Parkinson's disease, taking drugs for it as well as for anxiety and depression.

The coroner's report revealed he was also battling the incurable brain ailment Lewy body dementia.

"Those diseases may have been what tipped him over the edge," says the friend. "There was no cure, and he knew things were only going to get worse."

And on Aug. 11, 2014, the shattered 63-year-old superstar used a nylon belt to hang himself from a closet door in his $4 million Tiburon, Calif. home.

Sadly, Williams' family is now embroiled in a bitter fight over his $100 million estate. His widow, Susan, 51, is battling in court with his three children from his previous two marriages – Zach, 32, Zelda, 26 and Cody, 23.

About 300 items, including books, bicycles, artwork and watches, are still in dispute as well as an agreement on how much money should go into his widow's trust to fund her living expense for her lifetime.

DEVIL DENTIST PAYS $55G TO KILL BELOVED LION

lovers all over the world are howling for the blood of a sadistic
American poacher who ruthlessly shot, skinned and hacked off the head of a majestic lion during an African safari!

Eden Prairie, Minn.,
dentist Walter Palmer paid his guide a whopping $55,000 to lure the beloved 13-year-old lion, named Cecil, out of a Zimbabwe national park where he was protected from hunters. Once the big cat was on private land, Palmer coldly shot him with a bow and arrow.

Then the demonic dentist stalked the wounded and suffering animal, the most famous creature in Hwange
National Park, for a full 40 hours, before finally shooting it dead with a rifle.

to co-operate with authorities, if asked.

"I hired several professional guides, and they secured all proper permits," says Palmer, who was convicted of poaching a bear in Wisconsin several years ago. "To my knowledge, everything about this trip was legal and properly handled and conducted.

"I had no idea that the lion I took was a known, local favorite, was collared and part of a study until the end of the hunt. I relied on the expertise of my local professional guides to ensure a legal hunt.

"Again, I deeply regret that my pursuit of an activity I love and practice responsibly and legally resulted in the taking of this lion."

But the half-hearted apology did little to tamp down the fury.

"Walter Palmer, you are a coward who lacks a soul..." rages a critic who signed the petition. "I hope demons haunt you forever and may everyone who loves wildlife make your life a living hell. You make me sick."

Adds another, "Show this man all the mercy he showed Cecil the lion and the other majestic animals he kills for nothing more than sport."

Says Rodrigues, "The saddest part of all is now that Cecil is dead, the next lion in the hierarchy, Jericho, will most likely kill all of Cecil's cubs."

tracking collar put on by scientists studying lions when he was slaughtered.

"Cecil the Lion never bothered anybody," says Johnny Rodrigues, the head of Zimbabwe Conservation Task Force. "He was one of the most beautiful animals to look at."

An Internet petition demanding justice for Cecil drew more than 65,000 signatures worldwide in just a matter of hours.

His "guides" Honest Ndlovu and Theo Bronkhurst were charged with poaching and face $20,000 in fines and 10 years in jail. Now the fierce backlash triggered by his bloodlust has sent Palmer into hiding. He closed his dental practice, hoping the firestorm will soon pass.

But animal lovers are going after him tooth and claw.

"You utter, utter scum," one Internet commenter rages. "You should be in jail, and you should hang your head in shame."

Adds another, "I'd propose stranding him unarmed in the midst of the African savannah, many miles from any habitation, and let the wildlife decide his fate. The world could only be a better place for it."

For his part, however, the cowardly dentist maintains he did nothing wrong - and plans

SNITCH FOILED ASSASSINATION

Princess & Charles targets of IRA ROCK CONCERT BOMB

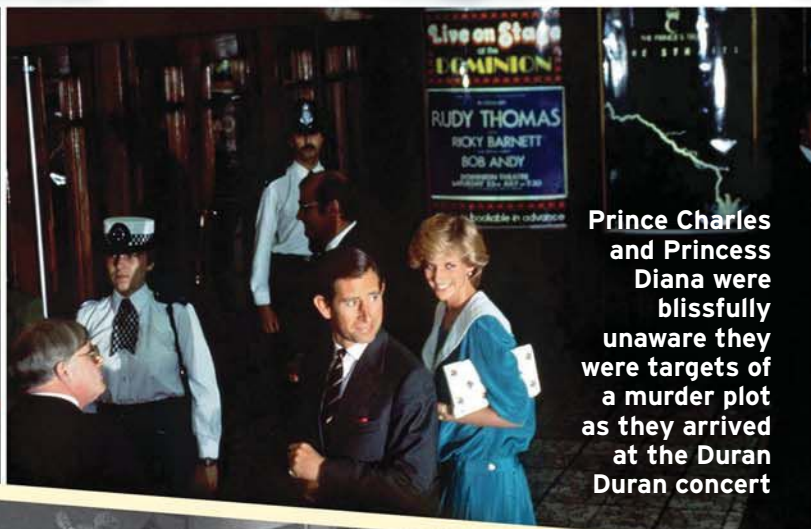

A SINISTER terrorist plot to assassinate Prince Charles and Princess Diana was thwarted by the very man ordered to murder the royal couple at a 1983 rock concert!

Former Irish Republican Army member Sean O'Callaghan, who was an informer for the Irish police and British intelligence, says his bloodthirsty bosses discovered The Prince and Princess of Wales would be "sitting ducks" at a Duran Duran concert on July 20.

'She was terrified'

He was sent to London on a covert practice run to plan the killing and found the perfect spot to plant a deadly bomb – in the wall of a bathroom near the Royal Box in London's Dominion Theatre.

Former IRA hit man Sean O'Callaghan was a secret informant who alerted authorities to the planned execution

A source close to Diana tells GLOBE, "She was terrified when she heard how close she'd come to death.

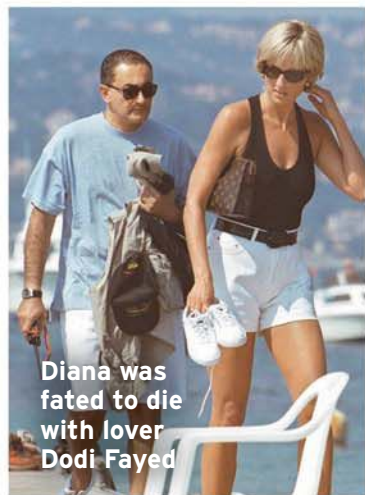

"Just three years earlier the IRA had killed Charles' uncle, Earl Mountbatten, with a bomb and now she was a target!

"It was just before her second wedding anniversary and her marriage was already beginning to fray with Camilla firmly on her radar.

"Fears for her life after the concert left her in turmoil. She was convinced she was going to die from a terrorist hit – or that Charles would get rid of her so he could marry Camilla."

The insider adds, "Diana lived in fear for the next 14 years – until she perished in the car wreck with her lover, Dodi Fayed."

Just four years before the tragic crash in a Paris tunnel on Aug. 31, 1997, the terrified 36-year-old Princess wrote to her butler, Paul Burrell, saying a member of the Royal Family was

DYING QUEEN GIVES UP HER CORGIS

ONCE surrounded by 13 feisty corgis snapping and yapping at her feet, dying Queen Elizabeth is giving up her beloved pups, a sign many suspect means the end is near for the frail 89-year-old monarch.

After breeding Pembroke Welsh Corgis for nearly 60 years, Her Majesty now has only two 12-year-olds, Holly and Willow, who are the direct descendants of a pup she got for her 18th birthday.

"But the Queen doesn't breed anymore," says a Palace insider. "She doesn't want to leave any pets behind when she passes away."

That's good news to her staffers, who reveal the "yappy, snappy" pooches are "bloody well hated" by employees and royals alike.

The dogs live BETTER than bluebloods – eating special meals, riding in limos, flying in private jets and romping through castles.

"Nobody is allowed to raise a finger or voice to any of the dogs," says Brian Hoey, who wrote about the pets. "They cock their legs and do what corgis do on antique furniture and priceless carpets."

While the Queen, who is battling heart problems and other medical woes, turns a blind eye to their antics, she does recognize the dogs pose a threat to

THE tragic death of Whitney Houston's daughter, Bobbi Kristina Brown, has sparked a bitter battle over the late singer's $20 million fortune!

Whitney's family is determined that relatives on her father's side won't get a dime.

"The Houstons don't believe Bobby Brown's kin folk deserve any of Whitney's money," claims a source. "And they'll battle the Browns for every last penny."

Whitney's will kicked into effect after the 48-year-old I Will Always Love You singer died in a bathtub at the Beverly Hilton Hotel in February 2012. It named Bobbi Kristina as her sole heir, with the money being doled out in stages.

She got 10 percent when she turned 21 last year, was due about 15 percent more at age 25 and the remainder at age 30.

Chilling scene

But Bobbi Kristina was just 22 when she died on July 26, almost six months after she was found drowning in her bathtub in a scene chillingly similar to her mom's death.

Complicating matters, Whitney's will was written in 1993 – long before she was divorced from Bobby Brown.

It states that if she survived her daughter, her fortune should be split up as "nearly

Songbird Whitney Houston died in 2012

equal as possible" between her immediate family members. They include her mom, Cissy, late dad, John, brothers, Michael and Gary, and "my husband, Robert B. Brown."

One of the issues is whether ex-hubby Bobby still qualifies for his cut. Another is how much of the 10 percent Krissi already inherited should go to him as her survivor.

"The idea Bobby is in line for Whitney's cash makes the Houstons incensed," says a source.

GRIEVING FATHER

Michael, Gary and Cissy Houston (left) don't want Bobby Brown getting his hands on Whitney's fortune

"They blame him for Whitney's deadly spiral into drug addiction that eventually killed her."

And apparently, the Houstons are prepared to go to war over it.

"Things are going to get ugly," predicts the source. "The battle will be bad, but the Houstons will go full force to save Whitney's money.

"Obviously, Whitney didn't get around to updating her will after she and Bobby divorced in 2007. She was battling her addictions and spiraling out of control."

On Jan. 31, Bobbi Kristina's boyfriend, Nick Gordon, and a pal, found her face down in a bathtub in her suburban Atlanta home.

Although paramedics were able to resuscitate her, she was placed in a medically-induced coma and put on life support.

Eventually, her dad, Bobby, and aunt, Pat Houston, agreed to pull the plug and she was transferred to a hospice facility.

Krissi died on July 26 surrounded by loved ones, including Bobby, Pat and Gary Houston, and her conservator, Bedelia Hargrove. And she was serenaded by Whitney's music, which played on a continuous loop.

Now, her death is being investigated as a possible homicide or manslaughter case.

After she drew her last breath, her relatives temporarily put aside their differences to unite in prayer and resolve the mysteries surrounding her death.

"Krissi was, and is, an angel," says her grieving dad. "My family must find a way to live with her in spirit and honor her memory."

BEST known for playing Uncle Jesse on the TV sitcom Full House, John Stamos, 51, led a cast revolt that ended the show. But now he's producing and guest-starring in a reboot, Fuller House, for Netflix! PATRICK STEWART'S WIFE IS JUST A KID!

X-MEN's Professor Xavier, Patrick Stewart, is married to Sunny Ozell, a woman nearly 40 years his junior - and it doesn't bother either of them a bit.

"I cannot fully understand this age thing," says the 75-year-old chrome-domed actor, who felt an instant attraction when he met the singer at a Brooklyn restaurant seven years ago.

Well, Sunny's dad had a problem with "the age thing" - he's five years younger than her hubby, and "was not thrilled at first," she says.

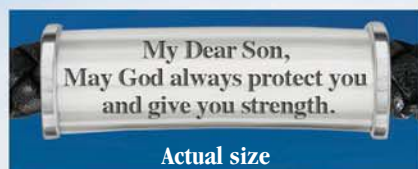

But Stewart's quick to point out they're now good friends, saying, "He rings me up and says, 'Hey son, it's your father here.'"

Adds 36-year-old Sunny, "One of Patrick's grandkids, a 12-year-old girl, is just starting to get that it's funny to call me grandma." Sunny was 18 months old when Stewart turned 40. Now THAT'S funny!

BREAKING BAD!

Meth monster murders couple and BURIES THEM WITH BACKHOE

— cops say

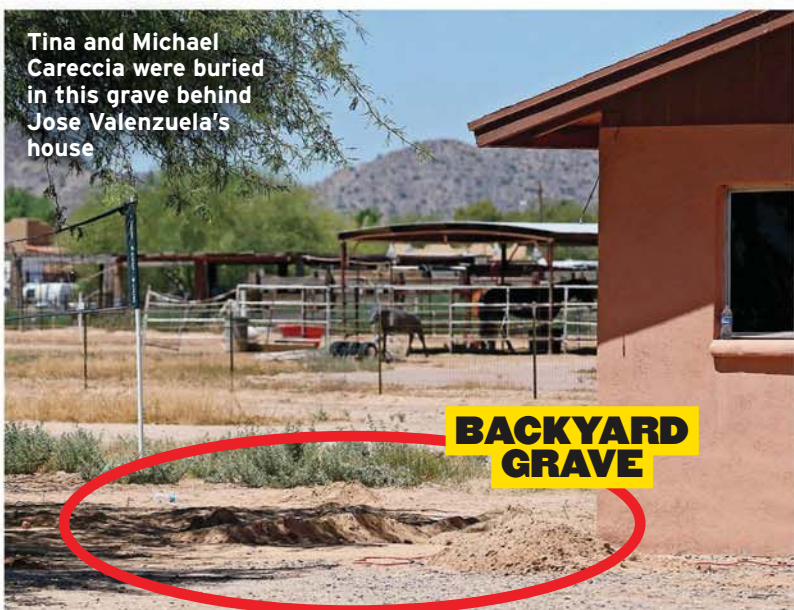

FUELED by crystal meth, drug-crazed Jose Valenzuela mercilessly shot Michael Careccia and his wife Tina, even as she desperately pleaded for her life, cops say.

The 38-year-old fiend then tried to hide the shooting by borrowing a backhoe from a pal, digging a deep grave and burying the couple, cops reveal.

But Valenzuela would confess to the double shooting in a phone call to a cop just over a week later. He's now being held on two counts of first-degree murder with bond set at $2 million.

"The couple went over to Valenzuela's home, and something happened, a fight ensued and that's when he brandished a weapon," says Pinal County Sheriff Paul Babeu.

Maricopa, Ariz., lawmen are investigating the killer's cruel claims that his victims took speed with him just before the shootings.

But Tina's brother Michael Perry says he's "skeptical" about Valenzuela's story that the couple was using meth.

Tragedy

"Especially Tina – she was very dedicated to her children," says her brother.

"My understanding of Jose is that he was their electrical contractor they had hired."

The tragedy unfolded when Michael, a 44-year-old United Airlines pilot, and Tina, 42, an accountant at a construction company, went over to Valenzuela's place on June 21. The couple had been married a year, and their combined families included five kids.

Valenzuela's pal Felix Rios Nunez, 38, told cops he was sleeping in a bedroom in the home when he was awakened by the sound of gunfire.

"Felix reported hearing a gunshot, woke up, exited his bedroom to find Michael using a chair as he was struggling to get off the floor," say cops.

"Felix reported Jose was standing over Tina who was lying on the floor pleading with him, telling him to calm down.

"Jose was holding Tina down with one hand and had a gun pointed at her. Felix told Jose to give him the gun, but Jose pushed him away and told Felix to leave."

As Michael gasped his last breath, Valenzuela ruthlessly shot Tina with the .22 caliber magnum revolver as she begged him not to kill her.

Meanwhile, the terrified Nunez fled the house.

The couple were reported missing by Michael's 17-year-old son on June 22 after Tina failed to show up for work.

After checking cell phone records, police discovered the Careccias were last seen alive the previous night, when they were in Valenzuela's home with a pal.

Court papers note that on July 1, Valenzuela admitted to the shootings over the phone to a police officer. But when asked to come into headquarters, he refused and threatened to kill himself with the murder weapon.

When he was arrested, he still had the pistol and told lawmen he'd buried the bodies near the back door of the house, according to police documents.

Valenzuela told police he'd known Michael and Tina for two years.

She begged for her life but he shot her anyway

Valenzuela claimed he brought meth to Michael, who was recovering from a bad hand injury, and Tina on June 21. He also attended a Father's Day party at their home, says Babeu.

After the shooting, he put their bodies in a shed and dumped their 2008 Honda Accord a mile from their home.

Instead of a digging a shallow grave, he borrowed the backhoe.

"He built not a makeshift grave...but an actual 6-foot grave," the sheriff says.

HEROIC HOOKER SNUFFS SAVAGE SERIAL KILLER!

A GUTSY prostitute turned the tables on a savage serial killer, shooting him in the head with his own gun as he assaulted her in a bloodthirsty rage!

The woman, a redhead identified only as “Heather,” says creepy Neal Falls contacted her through an online ad for an escort, then pulled a gun and asked, “Live or die?” as soon as he entered her Charleston, W.Va., home on July 18.

“I knew he was there to kill me,” says Heather.

Falls grabbed the 5-foot-6, 130-pound working girl’s throat and started choking her, but she bravely fought back.

Shocking discovery

“When he strangled me, he just wouldn’t let me breathe,” recalls Heather. “So I grabbed my rake, and when he laid down his gun to get the rake out of my hands, I shot him.”

Then Heather – who suffered a separated shoulder, broken vertebrae, bruises and other injuries – ran outside and got a neighbor to call 911.

Cops found Falls dead at the scene and soon made a shocking discovery. In the fiend’s car, they found all the tools of a serial killer – axes, knives, a machete, a shovel, plastic trash bags, bleach, four sets of handcuffs and a bulletproof vest.

“The fact that he was

Cops found a murderer’s tool kit in Falls’ vehicle (top left) including handcuffs, knives, a shovel, sledge hammer, axes and a machete carrying tools like he was and committing a crime that was so organized and so violent... it’s likely Mr. Falls is a serial killer,” says Charleston police Lt. Steve Cooper.

Authorities suspect Falls may be responsible for the deaths and dismemberments of three prostitutes, and the disappearance of another, in the Las Vegas area, where he used to live. They’re also investigating links to several murdered and missing sex workers in Ohio.

Meanwhile, cops have ruled Heather shot Falls in self-defense.

Declares Lt. Cooper, “I believe she saved lives by shooting Mr. Falls.”

LISTEN up, Hulkamaniacs... the man you worshipped for all these years turns out to be nothing more than a pathetic racist pig!

Yeah, I'm talking about you, Hulk Hogan! Whatcha gonna do about it? You don't scare me, you bloated bag of garbage.

Seems the Hulkster was caught using multiple racial slurs in a tirade on his infamous sex tape with the wife of his former good pal.

"I guess we're all a little racist," he said while discussing his daughter Brooke potentially dating an African American. "I don't know if Brooke was &%$#ing the black guy's son. I mean, I am a racist, to a point. $%&@ing n**!"

There was more. Lots more. But you catch my drift. It was vile, despicable stuff. Thankfully, the WWE fired his ass. Good for them!

Of course, some will argue Hulk must have suffered too many pile drivers at the hands of Rowdy Roddy Piper or been body slammed one too many times by Andre The Giant.

But it's nothing like that at all. The fact is he's just another loser - plain and simple.

However, he still might have a future in the ring. I suggest he retire the name Hulk Hogan and get a white robe, white hood and call himself "Karl the Klansman."

That sounds just about right, don't you think?

AND ONE MORE THING... Years ago I took my then 3-year-old son to watch a Yankee spring training game in Fort Lauderdale.

He sat there in his little Yankee uniform all prepared to watch the game. As he got comfortable in his seat, he tapped the lady next to him on the shoulder.

"Hi, Lady!" he said. "Do you

HEAD OF THE CLASS STARS LEARNED HARD LESSON

ROBIN GIVENS, 50, who played Darlene on ABC's sitcom Head of the Class, has become a staunch advocate against domestic violence. Her crusade follows a 1988 divorce from former heavyweight boxing champ Mike Tyson, who she claims subjected her to nightmarish physical abuse. "I only left my marriage when I felt I was going to die physically or die emotionally," the single beauty said recently. "One day you wake up with a knife at your throat. Another day, your shoes are all torn up." Robin still lands acting jobs. And her TV teacher Howard "Charlie Moore" Hesseman, 75, vows to keep working "because it makes you feel agile." But his memories of the show aren't all happy ones. "Sitcom work is a lot like any family," says Hesseman, who has been married for 26 years. THE ladies of Dallas pretty much quit acting following the demise of the hit soap that spanned the '80s before going off the air in 1991. After leaving Hollywood, the divas actually went on to BIGGER things.

Meanwhile, Victoria Principal, 65, parlayed her fame as Bobby Ewing's wife Pam into Principal Secret skin-care products. Her beauty treatments reportedly have sold more than $1 billion. Her net worth is a whopping $200 million.

MR. T, 63, battled T-cell lymphoma after being diagnosed with the disease in 1995. It returned 11 months later, but he beat it and remains cancer-free today. He's a born-again Christian and has pitched several products, including a gold-buying company and, most recently, Fuze Flavor Charged Ice Tea. He also has a home renovation show, I Pity the Tool, on the DIY network, the title playing off his trademark A-Team phrase, "I pity the fool."

TRIUMPH & TEARS FOR DESIGNING WOMEN DIVAS

AFTER being fired as Suzanne Sugarbaker in 1991, Delta Burke, 59, went on to star in Delta and Women of the House. But when she was co-starring on Boston Legal in 2006, she was hit by crippling depression, panic attacks and compulsive hoarding disorder. In 2008, Gerald McRaney's wife was checked into a psychiatric hospital. She's worked little ever since.

Meanwhile, her "Designing" co-star Annie "Mary Jo Shively" Potts has kept busy. Married to fourth husband, TV director Jim Hayman, she's scheduled to co-star in ABC's new sitcom Family Fortune at age 62.

Jean Smart, 63, who played Charlene, has also had a full workload with roles in Frasier, The District, Samantha Who?, Harry's Law and Hawaii Five-0 to name a few. Wed to actor Richard Gilliland since 1987, she's set to play a crime family matriarch on FX's Fargo.

FEISTY maid Florence from The Jeffersons is still full of pluck at age 84. So far this year, Marla Gibbs, a divorced mother of three, has appeared in the hit shows Scandal and Hot in Cleveland. RICHARD MOLL

THE Night Court stars have suffered through their own trials since the sitcom's eight-year run ended in 1992. Harry Anderson, Night Court's Judge Harry T. Stone, starred in the short-lived 1990s sitcom Dave's World before dropping out of showbiz to open a restaurant in New Orleans with his second wife, Elizabeth. After Hurricane Katrina, they moved to North Carolina and he started touring as a magician. Now 62, he returned to the screen last year in the Christian-oriented film, A Matter of Faith. Meanwhile, Richard Moll, the 72-year-old hulk who played towering Bull Shannon, has had only a smattering of small roles and voice parts. Still, the twice-married, now-divorced actor vows that if a Night Court reunion was in the works, he'd "run in the other direction."

HART TO HART'S STEFANIE POWERS FIGHTING CANCER

BRAVE former Hart to Hart star Stefanie Powers received a devastating cancer diagnosis in 2008 and had part of one lung removed. Still, she managed one final appearance that same year on a BBC Hart to Hart special. Since then, Powers, 72, continues her work with the William Holden Wildlife Association - named after her ex-lover who died in 1981 - and spends part of the year in Kenya.

THE stars of Dynasty saw their fame fizzle when the hit nighttime soap ran out of steam in 1989 after eight years on the air.

Star Linda Evans, 72, who played tycoon's wife Krystle Carrington, shockingly lost her gorgeous blonde tresses back in December after surgery and treatments to relieve back pain. Fans were further alarmed when Linda, who remains divorced after two marriages, skipped a recent Dynasty reunion in L.A. Her rep downplayed Linda's absence insisting "she lives in Washington state and doesn't make trips all over the place."

Pamela Sue Martin, 61, who played wild party girl Fallon Carrington Colby, also lives far from Tinseltown in Hailey, Idaho. Single after four marriages, she spent the decade after Dynasty working in Hollywood before becoming an advocate for conservation. However, the Greenpeace and Sierra Club environmentalist can still be spotted at fan events around the country.

6 WONDER FOODS TO FIGHT DIABETES

DIABETES is reaching epidemic proportions in America with more than 18.8 million patients suffering from the dreaded disease, but doctors say you can protect yourself by eating right.

"The majority have Type 2 diabetes which may be caused by overeating and not getting enough exercise," says Dr. Gabe Mirkin of Orlando, Fla.

"Certain foods cause a rise in blood sugar and if the pancreas is unable to produce enough insulin to normalize the blood sugar levels, the body cells become insulin-resistant and diabetes is the result."

Studies show that by reducing your weight by as little as seven percent, you can cut your chance for this potentially deadly disease by a whopping 60 percent.

Here are six of the best diabetes-fighting foods:

- Blueberries: Eating two to three servings a week lowers diabetes risk by 24 percent. Add a half cup to your daily cereal.

- Green tea: This beverage helps regulate blood sugar levels. One study recommends three cups daily.

- Dark chocolate: This treat contains flavonoids which help insulin-producing cells function. Eat a small square or two daily.

- Vinegar: A study found that downing two tablespoons before meals lowered blood sugar levels by 25 percent in diabetics and as much as 50 percent in pre-diabetics.

- Nuts: Participants in clinical trials who replaced a sugar-free whole wheat muffin with two ounces of mixed nuts daily lowered both blood sugar levels and cholesterol. Walnuts and pistachio nuts are best.

- Coffee: Experts say three or four cups of coffee daily slashes the risk of Type 2 diabetes by 25 percent. Chinese researchers found people who drank the most java cut their risk of diabetes by 30 percent.

New drug clobbers cholesterol

➤ A NEW more powerful cholesterol-fighting drug may soon be on the market. Sold under the brand name Praluent, the medicine is stronger and has less side effects than current anti-cholesterol medications, called statins, according to maker Sanofi SA and Regeneration Pharmaceuticals. The drug is currently being reviewed by the Food and Drug Administration's advisory committee. If the board recommends it, Praluent will likely get full approval.

Walking makes you more creative

➤ IF you want to boost your creativity, try taking a walk! Going for a stroll - whether outside in the fresh air or even inside on a treadmill facing a blank wall - generated twice as many creative responses as sitting down did among the participants in a recent Stanford University study. "Many people anecdotally claim they do their best thinking while walking," note the study authors. "We finally may be taking a step, or two, toward discovering why."

PITTED NAILS

Pitted nails (left) can signal a condition called Reiter's syndrome

A DIAGNOSIS of your general health may literally be at your fingertips!

"I've always been fascinated by fingernails," Florida dermatologist Dr. Ken Beer tells GLOBE.

"Frequently they can help a dermatologist discover what else is going on with a patient's health."

Here are some examples:

- Pitted nails may signal psoriasis, alopecia or an arthritic condition called Reiter's syndrome.
- Pale fingernail beds are potential signs of anemia, liver disease or diabetes.
- Thick yellow nails may be caused by a fungal infection, but yellow without thickening could stem from liver disease or diabetes.
- Brittle nails may be due to an underactive thyroid gland.
- Horizontal white lines that cover the entire nail and are found on more than one finger could indicate kidney or liver problems or nutritional deficiencies.

- Clubbing - when the tips of the nails enlarge and curve around the fingertips - means they're not getting enough oxygen and could be a result of lung or liver disease, heart problems, inflammatory bowel disease or AIDS.

- Spoon nails that look scooped out may be due to anemia, hypothyroidism or heart disease.

AVOCADO & SOY BEATS ARTHRITIS PAIN

PEOPLE who suffer from osteoarthritis pain may find relief from a dietary supplement made from avocado and soybean oil. According to the manufacturers, studies suggest avocados and soy can grow cartilage - or at least stop its degeneration. Cartilage cushions joints, and when it breaks down, osteoarthritis pain can ensue. But other studies and experts question the manufacturer's claims. Arthritis specialist David Felson says there's "not enough evidence" to show that avocado-soy supplements "are effective." But they don't hurt!

YOUR HOROSCOPE

For the week of August 17 - August 23

by Emily Hamer-West

ARIES March 21 - April 20

It's time to take a step back from the situation that's been occupying all your time and focus on your home life. Your garden is neglected and the dust bunnies are having babies! The planets advise against bets of any kind, now. But a contest you entered earlier could bring good news!

GEMINI May 22 - June 21

Talking about something is one thing, Twin, but doing it is another. The planets band together Monday to give you the push you need to get started! A chance to adopt a pet comes along – say yes! Looking to lose weight? The exercise class a friend suggests will work!

LEO July 23 - August 23

It's tempting to blame a disappointment on another, but put it in perspective and you'll feel better. Don't put much stock in someone's opinions of you, because really, who cares? You're burning the midnight oil too often! Make "Early To Bed" your mantra!

LIBRA September 23 - October 23

Keeping a cool head when everyone else loses theirs earns you respect. And suggesting solutions instead of panicking could even turn into cash! Singles find romance with someone who works in real estate. You might want to tour those model homes even if you're not in the market!

SAGITTARIUS November 23 - December 21

A flirty friend has romance on the mind, but you're not really interested...or are you? Something that happens beneath the Scorpio moon late this week changes your heart's view and friendship could quickly morph into passion! A fire sign pal steers you to clothing bargains.

AQUARIUS January 21 - February 18

A door may be closing and something you've enjoyed coming to an end, but Mercury joining Saturn promises another will open to a brighter future. Cosmic alignments send extra cash your way – the source will stun you as it's from something you completely forgot about! The number 4 is lucky.

TAURUS April 21 - May 21

Your biggest problem is tiredness, Bull. Controlling stress is your secret weapon for much-needed sleep, and a new acquaintance has a unique approach to that. A date night with your sweetie under Friday's Scorpio moon can be fun or frightful – the stars say don't bring up the Honey Do list!

CANCER June 22 - July 22

When someone tries to drag you into a family fight or battle between co-workers, walk away. Cash flow has slowed, but a change of circumstances heading your way turns the prosperity faucet on full steam! A teen asks for love advice, and Venus guides your perfect answers!

VIRGO August 24 - September 22

Jupiter brings the possibility of turning your hobby into your dream career. Allow extra time for activities on Sunday, when a cosmic slowdown causes delays. A tech-savvy neighbor can get you that big screen TV or fast computer at an affordable price!

SCORPIO October 24 - November 22

Saturn clashing with the sun warns: Go over bank accounts and keep an eye on personal belongings for the next week or two. The good news is this only applies to money matters. Friends and family have your back now, and wedding bells could ring for some lovebirds!

CAPRICORN December 22 - January 20

It's okay to stand up for yourself, and the sun in feisty Leo joining Pluto provides the courage! If you've been considering an appearance change, seek the advice of a stylish Gemini friend and go for it! Reconnecting with a former co-worker snags you travel opportunities this weekend!

PISCES February 19 - March 20

Fish, you're often psychic, but that doesn't mean your partner is! Speak up and tell your sweetie what you need! Check bills and other correspondence carefully while Saturn is retrograde. It's likely you've gotten someone else's past due notice. A cousin or sibling has good news this weekend.

THE BACHELORETTE IS A TOTAL LIE!

A WHOPPING 8 million viewers tuned in to see Bachelorette beauty Kaitlyn Bristowe give the rose to suitor Shawn Booth on the Season 11 finale – but what most folks don't realize is the so-called reality show is as phony as host Chris Harrison's spray-on tan!

That's the word from insiders, who say the seemingly spontaneous action caught on camera is often meticulously orchestrated by producers.

"Reality TV is so close to scripted TV at this point," says former Bachelor producer Sarah Gertrude Shapiro. "It takes a sophisticated set of skills to be able to manipulate emotions out of people."

One myth Kaitlyn shattered this season was the Bachelorettes "save themselves" for their chosen one, avoiding sex. She shocked viewers by admitting she'd bedded Shawn's hated rival, Nick Viall, in the seventh episode.

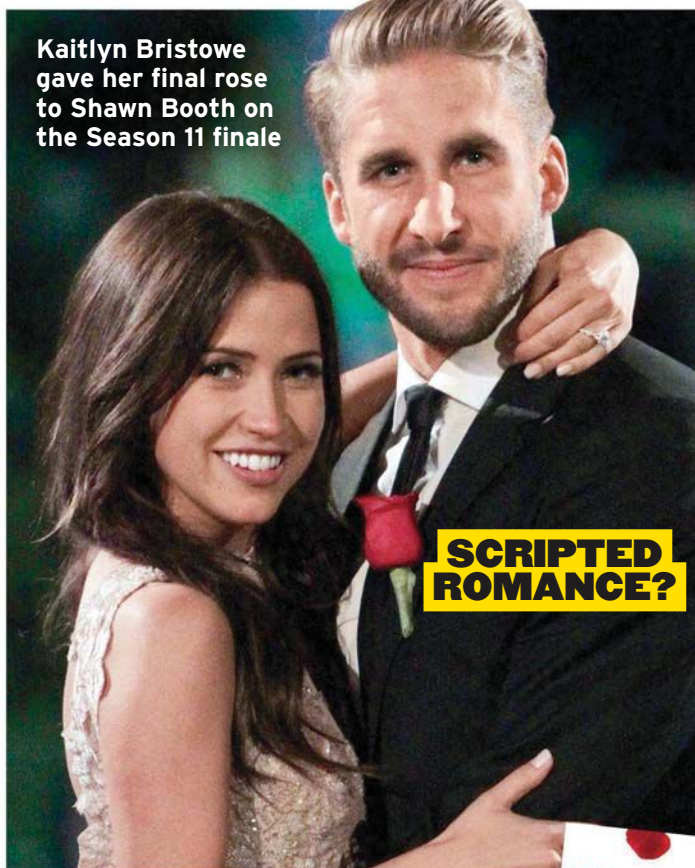

Romantic couplings

Still, producers of the family-friendly ABC series would prefer to pretend the contestants don't go beyond innocent make-out sessions.

But Season 6 Bachelorette Ali Fedotowsky says, "I can assure you Kaitlyn is not the first person to have sex with someone on the show. I would argue that 95 percent of the Bachelors and Bachelorettes do have sex on the show."

One source notes Bachelorette execs sometimes encourage romantic couplings

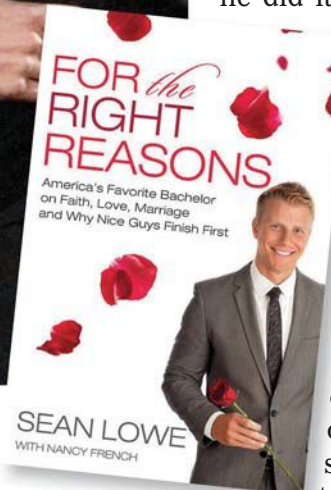

Kaitlyn Bristowe gave her final rose to Shawn Booth on the Season 11 finale

SCRIPTED ROMANCE?

Runner-up Nick Viall (left) bedded Kaitlyn before losing her. Season 8 contestant Sean Lowe ripped the lid off Bachelorette secrets in his book (right) by plying the contestants with booze.

Meanwhile, reality star Sean Lowe, who got his start on Bachelorette Season 8, is also ripping the lid off the phony-baloney show in his book For the Right Reasons.

EXECS STAGE
love scenes and hide bed-hopping

Season 6 star Ali Fedotowsky - here with her suitors - says almost all of the Bachelorettes have sex with contestants during the show

Lowe says when he wanted to tell Bachelorette Emily Maynard he loved her, producers made sure he did it during the evening part of their date "when things are supposed to be more serious."

He also recalls that a normal 10-minute drive to a hotel was prolonged and turned into an "endless trip" to force him to confess his love while cameras rolled.

Producers stage the order of people climbing out of the limo on the series opener, having the two most likely to succeed emerge first and last. And the order of the weekly rose ceremony is likewise determined behind the scenes in an effort to build drama.

Anthony 'Luke' Geary and co-star Genie 'Laura' Francis do a scene earlier this year

LUKE AND LAURA'S A PAIN IN MY ASS!

Anthony Geary TRASHES General Hospital

The soap legend won a record eight daytime Emmys

ANTHONY GEARY shot to fame as half of General Hospital's super-couple Luke and Laura, but that didn't stop him from unleashing a vicious tirade against the show and his iconic TV relationship!

Despite winning a record eight daytime Emmy awards playing volatile Luke Spencer, the 68-year-old soap legend slammed his TV coupling with actress Genie Francis when he left the show for good after the July 27 episode.

Dragging the corpse

"I just get really tired of the whole Luke-and-Laura thing," he says. "Genie and I have both been dragging the corpse of that relationship around for 30 years."

"Being hyphenated as Luke-and-Laura has been a real pain in the ass."

Luke and Laura's relationship became a pop culture phenomenon. Their TV wedding in 1981 drew an astounding 30 million viewers. It remains the highest-rated hour in daytime soap opera history, but that hasn't softened Geary's feelings.

"It irritated me," he grumbles. "Every time I was introduced anywhere in the last 33 years, they'd run the clip of the  wedding."

Geary says he also won't miss "being in an industry where an actor's resume is less important than how he looks with his shirt off or how many Facebook followers he has. That is abhorrent to me...I feel bad for all the young (actors). They don't have a clue how to survive in this rat-infested jungle."

In an interview with TVinsider.com, Geary further vents about the "weak writing" on the long-running ABC soap – and why he refused to give up a clause in his contract allowing him to rewrite Luke's dialogue.

"After all my years with this character, I'm not about to let some new hire tell me how Luke would express an idea or emotion," he explains.

Geary, who admits being drunk or on drugs during the 1980s, is breathing a sigh of relief after leaving the show, saying, "I'm free!"

And he confesses, "I have almost, but not quite, come to grips with the fact that my obituary is going to read: 'Anthony Geary, Luke of Luke-and-Laura, died today.'"

Luke and Laura tie the knot in 1981

Touching story behind documentary about tragic songbird

HEARTBROKEN Tony Bennett is guilt-ridden and haunted by the belief he could have saved the life of tragic singer Amy Winehouse.

In the emotional documentary, Amy, now playing at U.S. theaters, Bennett, 89, says he wanted to tell the doomed British songbird, "Slow down, you're too important. Life teaches you how to live if you last long enough."

Rehab rebel

And the I Left My Heart in San Francisco singer said in another interview, "I wanted to tell her that, but I had to leave because we were touring all over the world making this album."

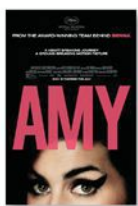

"I never got a chance to do it. My son called up and said she died, and I couldn't believe that I didn't get that message to her."

The legendary crooner and tattooed Rehab rebel Winehouse, 27, bonded at iconic Abbey Road studios in 2011 where she agreed to perform the song Body and Soul with him on his Duets II album.

In the film, Bennett calls her a "natural true jazz singer" like greats Ella Fitzgerald and Billie Holiday.

Sadly, Amy squandered her life and talent by spiraling into drug and alcohol addiction.

Shortly after her duet with Bennett, the five-time Grammy winner died of alcohol poisoning on July 23, 2011.

New film tells about Amy's life

TONY BENNETT'S BIGGEST REGRET

SINGING LEGEND COULDN'T SAVE TROUBLED AMY WINEHOUSE

Amy Winehouse's last recording was a duet with Tony Bennett

and hoped to help her quit.

He wanted to warn her about his own struggle with cocaine in the 1970s when "everyone in Vegas was on drugs. But I was able to stop. The few people I knew who couldn't stop have died, so I was praying for her."

Bennett says he would have told Winehouse about the remark that saved him years ago.

"Woody Allen's manager at the time, Jack Rollins, said he knew Lenny Bruce," the controversial comic who died young of a drug overdose.

"Rollins said one sentence that changed my life: He said, 'Lenny sinned against his talent.'"

- DAVID GARDNER

The documentary also reveals Winehouse's dad, Mitchell, resisted sending her to rehab early on even though her manager and pals thought it would help.

Bennett later revealed he knew about Winehouse's battle with cocaine and heroin

GOOD WIFE FILLS A VACANCY

RUGGED Jeffrey Dean Morgan is becoming one of the busiest actors in the CBS family.

He's already a regular on the Eye network's Extant as the male lead, JD Richter, opposite Halle Berry, and now he's been hired by The Good Wife.

Morgan will play calm, cool and collected Alex, an experienced investigator brought into the legal world by Alicia (Julianna Margulies). He fills the spot left empty by the exit of Kalinda Sharma (Archie Panjabi) last season amid reports of a bitter feud with Margulies.

Industry pundits say Morgan should be able to juggle roles on both shows, as Extant only films 13 episodes a year.

"We've loved and admired Jeffrey Dean Morgan for years and we were thrilled to hear Julianna did too, so it was a no-brainer to ask him to join our troupe," creators Michelle and Robert King said in a joint statement.

To some, Morgan's name might not be familiar, but his face sure is.

Jeffrey Dean Morgan will likely remain on Extant as the male lead opposite Halle Berry

He wowed audiences with his recurring role on ABC's Grey's Anatomy playing heart patient Denny Duquette, who made intern Izzie Stevens (Katherine Heigl) fall for him as he lay there dying.

"That's what put me on the map," says 49-year-old Morgan. "It was a heartbreaking end for me and for the show."

More recently, he won acclaim for his role as no-nonsense "Deaf" Smith on the History Channel's Texas Rising.

Morgan won over Grey's Anatomy audiences interacting with Katherine Heigl

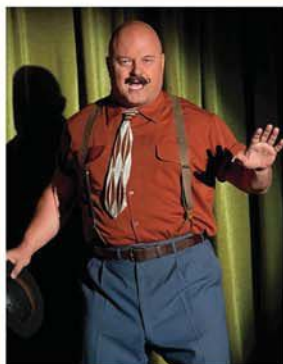

TV FACT

Taxi star Danny DeVito turned down the role of George Costanza on Seinfeld, which Jason Alexander ended up playing.

CHIKLIS MOVES TO GOTHAM

MICHAEL CHIKLIS, the tough guy actor who was featured as Dell Toledo in the recent season of the popular American Horror Story has signed on for FOX's hit drama, Gotham.

According to reports, Chiklis, who played

Michael Chiklis starred in The Shield and American Horror Story (inset)

Thing on the big screen's Fantastic Four, is playing Captain Nathaniel Barnes, who joins the Gotham City Police Department to rid it of its "dead wood."

The character description says Barnes isn't afraid of making enemies on either side of the law and serves as a mentor to James Gordon. He'll be a valuable ally, but those in the know predict he could become a formidable enemy.

Chiklis is used to police work - he starred in FX's The Shield as Detective Vic Mackey and as Tony Scali in ABC's The Commish.

BARTON BATTLES HER DEMONS

THE O.C. beauty Mischa Barton is returning to the small screen playing a recovering addict in ABC Family's new drama, Recovery Road.

Barton has been mostly absent from mainstream TV for nearly a decade, apart from a Law & Order: SVU guest spot and a role in the short-lived series The Beautiful Life in 2009.

She plays Olivia in the family drama that follows a group of young people recovering from addiction at a rehab center.

The upcoming show hits close to home for the 29-year-old actress. Barton was arrested in 2007 for driving under the influence, and two years later she spent time in a psychiatric ward.

"It was a full-on breakdown," admitted Barton, who left The O.C. in 2006 after three seasons.

McHALE HUNTS FOR ALIENS

COMMUNITY's Joel McHale is seeking the truth out there along with FBI agents Fox Mulder and Dana Scully.

The 43-year-old comic actor signed up for a major guest spot on FOX's new version of The X Files with David Duchovny and Gillian Anderson reprising their roles from the hit 1993 to 2002 series.

McHale - who hosts The Soup on E! - plays Internet news anchor Tad O'Malley who helps Mulder in his quest to prove that aliens really do exist.

Community was canceled by NBC after five seasons last year, but was picked up for a sixth season by Yahoo's streaming service.

The six-part X Files, which will also star original cast member Mitch Pileggi, airs early next year.

WONDER BOY, 8, GETS FIRST DOUBLE HAND TRANSPLANT!

Breakthrough surgery took 10 agonizing hours

LITTLE Zion Harvey is a medical miracle. The 8-year-old became the first youngster to undergo a double hand transplant!

Now, the first thing he wants to do once he leaves rehabilitation, where he undergoes “rigorous hand therapy several times a day,” is swing from the bars on a playground jungle gym.

He also can’t wait to hold his little sister, saying, “My favorite thing will be to wait for her to run into my hands as I pick her up and spin her around.”

Handless Zion
before the operation

An adult received the first hand transplant at Philadelphia’s Penn Medicine in 2011, but Zion is the first child to undergo the rigorous surgery – on BOTH arms.

More than 40 medical personnel, including a dozen doctors, eight nurses and three anesthesiologists, took part in the 10-hour operation at The Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia.

Surgeons attached the donor’s hands and forearms to the bones, blood vessels, nerves, muscles, tendons and skin in Zion’s limbs.

Head surgeon Dr. L. Scott

Levin, who practiced on cadavers for the operation, recalls the moment Zion’s blood poured into a new hand turning it pink.

“That hand was now alive,” he says.

‘Being reborn’

His thrilled mom, Pattie Ray says “when I saw Zion’s hands for the first time after the operation, I just felt like he was being reborn.

“It was like having a newborn. It was a very joyous moment.”

Zion’s battled a long hard road in his short life. At age 2, a massive bacterial infection triggered multiple organ failure and doctors were forced to amputate his hands and feet.

Following two years of dialysis, he received a kidney transplant from his mother.

“I don’t know how many adults can handle half of his life,” says his proud mom.

While Zion has prosthetic feet, he now has real live hands. Dr. Levin described the courageous kid as the perfect patient.

“I’ve never seen a tear, never an untoward face, never a complaint,” he says. “He’s always positive. And that, in and of itself, is remarkable.”

BURGLAR STEALS ROB'S $175G BASEBALL CARD!

COMIC actor Rob Schneider takes baseball cards seriously - and lost the crown jewel of his collection when burglars made off with his 1951 Willie Mays rookie card.

While the star was out, crooks broke through a sliding glass door at his L.A. mansion. They looted his treasures, including the Mays card, worth an estimated $175,000, a Cartier watch, his third wife Patricia's engagement ring and other items.

Fortunately, most of the 51-year-old Deuce Bigalow star's baseball card collection was left undisturbed.

A source says Mays' rookie card issued by the Bowman company is so rare "it will be difficult or impossible to fence."

PAULA DEEN IN DIVORCE DRAMA

Disgraced TV cook gives $1.3M home to her hubby

PAULA DEEN is whipping up a recipe for divorce, sources suggest, after she inexplicably transferred the deed to a $1.3 million home to her husband, Michael Groover.

Rumors

The 68-year-old Southern cooking queen and her tugboat skipper hubby bought the 5,646-square-foot Savannah, Ga., house in 2004, the same year they wed. It's been used as a location for some of her TV shows.

But now Deen is giving it away. Legal documents call it a "gift" that she's lavishing on Groover, 59, "in consideration of her natural love and affection for her husband."

However, sources believe the deed transfer is really part of a secret divorce settlement. Rumors of a split have been swirling for a few years, ever since reports surfaced that Groover carried on a steamy affair with a "sexy, middle-aged brunette." He's denied those accusations.

Meanwhile, their 11-year union was said to be stressed by the collapse of Deen's

But the feisty celebrity cook has fought back to rebuild her brand with her Paula Deen Network Web site and a new restaurant in Pigeon Forge, Tenn.

And a rep for the star calls the current divorce rumors "completely false," adding, "This deed of gift was just part of Paula's estate-planning process."

To some, sunglasses are a fashion accessory...

But When Driving, These Sunglasses May Save Your Life!

Drivers' Alert: Driving can expose you to more dangerous glare than any sunny day at the beach can... do you know how to protect yourself?

The sun rises and sets at peak travel periods, during the early morning and afternoon rush hours and many drivers find themselves temporarily blinded while driving directly into the glare of the sun. Deadly accidents are regularly caused by such blinding glare with danger arising from reflected light off another vehicle, the pavement, or even from waxed and oily windshields that can make matters worse. Early morning dew can exacerbate this situation. Yet, motorists struggle on despite being blinded by the sun's glare that can cause countless accidents every year.

Not all sunglasses are created equal.

Protecting your eyes is serious business. With all the fancy fashion frames out there it can be easy to overlook what really matters—the lenses. So we did our research and looked to the very best in optic innovation and technology.

Sometimes it does take a rocket scientist.

A NASA rocket scientist.

Some ordinary sunglasses can obscure your vision by exposing your eyes to harmful UV rays, blue light, and reflective glare. They can also darken useful vision-enhancing light. But now, independent research conducted by scientists from NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory has brought forth groundbreaking technology to help protect human eyesight from the harmful effects of solar radiation light. This superior lens technology was first discovered when NASA scientists looked to nature for a means to superior eye protection—specifically, by studying the eyes of eagles, known for their extreme visual acuity. This discovery resulted in what is now known as Eagle Eyes®.
